

Remarkable Press Launches National Search For 2 Divorce Professionals To Fill Remaining Chapters in Best-Selling Divorce Book Series

Publishing Partners Mark Imperial and Stewart Andrew Alexander seek only 2 Divorce Professionals to be included in their Best-Selling "Stress-Free Divorce" book series that benefits Junior Achievement.

Mark Imperial, founder of Remarkable Radio and Press and Publishing Partner Stewart Andrew Alexander confirmed they have officially launched a Nationwide search to find the 2 remaining Divorce Professionals to spotlight in the new volume of the book series titled, "Stress-Free Divorce: Leading Divorce Professionals Speak".

Explaining the search process, Imperial said, "This is an important book series for us, so we'll be hand-picking the final 2 Divorce Professionals we feel are true advocates for the success of divorcing couples in America, while at the same time committing to spread the word about a great organization like Junior Achievement."

Remarkable Radio and Press has pledged 100% of the royalties from the retail sales of the book to be donated to Junior Achievement.

Scheduled for Summer release, the new volume of "Stress-Free Divorce: Leading Divorce Professionals Speak" will spotlight each Professional selected from this search, sharing their insights and real world experience on Stress-Free Divorce.

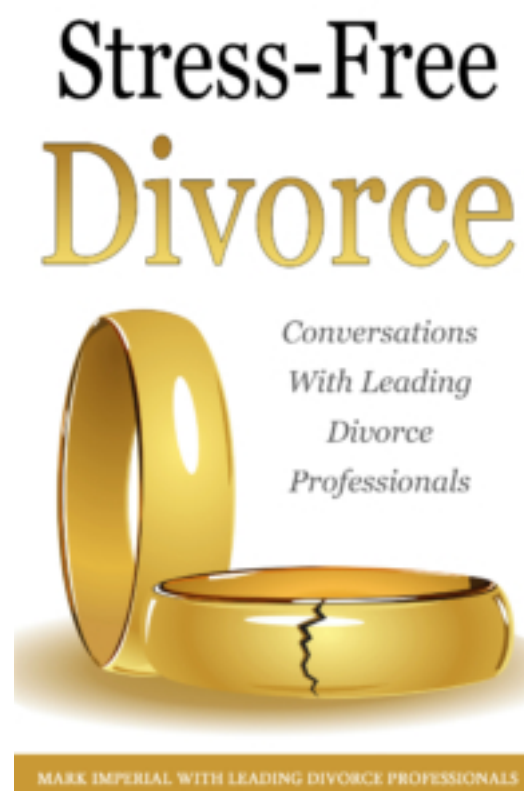

Imperial said, "This book isn't just about Divorce. The Divorce Professionals we select are passionate about helping divorcing couples. They will answer the most common questions and bust the myths and misconceptions so many people have about Divorce. "Stress-Free Divorce: Leading Divorce Professionals Speak" will cover law, collaborative divorce, mediation, children, finances, mortgages, real estate, stress, and more – a lot of information that is rarely talked about".

Imperial went on to describe the book as, "... a powerful resource for divorcing couples who want to divorce amicably, without the stress caused by lack of information, or worse — misinformation".

Having already secured several well-known industry leaders in this series, Remarkable Radio and Press is expected to make an announcement revealing the final selections by mid-March.

However, Imperial asserted, "One of the reasons Stewart and I launched this search is because we didn't want to go the route of filling this book with the stereotypical 'Experts.' This search would be unnecessary if that was the case. We want to spotlight professionals with stellar reputations who consistently do remarkable work for their clients."

"We anticipate a lot of exposure around this project, for both Junior Achievement and the professionals we select to feature in the book, so we really want to showcase those Divorce Professionals who are actually in the trenches, working hard every day and willing to share that experience to benefit a great cause and the success of divorcing couples. That's what will make this a win-win-win project."
